“City of Norfolk Managers Tour NECC”

Dr. Michael Chipps, President of Northeast Community College, described the college as a “community within a community” during a recent tour of the college campus given to ten City of Norfolk division managers and Mayor Sue Fuchtman.

The guests were taken through many parts of the campus including the Welcome Center, the UNMC nursing college facility, the automotive technology building, the welding instruction area, the audio/recording/broadcasting division, an information technology classroom, library services, and the theater.

The tour was part of an agreement between the City of Norfolk and NECC to learn more about each other’s organization and find ways to partner together to benefit both entities. The City hosted NECC officials last year in a round table discussion and subsequent tour of the Fire Division and Police Division.
